General advice

- In addition to covering the content outline in the advance information, students and teachers should consider how to:
 - manage their revision of parts of the specification which may be assessed in areas not covered by the advance information
 - manage their revision of other parts of the specification which may provide knowledge that helps with understanding the areas being tested in 2022.
- For specifications with synoptic assessments, topics not explicitly given in the advance information may appear e.g., where students are asked to bring together knowledge, skills and understanding from across the specification.
- For specifications with optional papers/topics/content, students should only refer to the advance information for components for which they intend to sit examinations.
- For specifications with NEA, advance information does not cover any NEA components.

A link to the Joint Council for Qualifications guidance document on advance information can be found on the Joint Council for Qualifications website or here.

Advance Information

Subject specific section

What the information shows

- For our Pearson Edexcel GCSE Citizenship Studies, for both the component 01, and component 02 examination papers, questions will be drawn from one or more of the indicated areas of specification content except where those questions are:
 1. MCQs (multiple-choice questions)
 2. In relation to Theme E, the Citizenship in Action assignment.
- All bullet points under each topic area (e.g. 1. The changing UK population) will be assessed within the relevant paper. Please refer to the latest qualification specification for this information.
- The specification content is presented in numerical order as set out in the specification, and not reflecting the question order of the examination papers.
- Some questions may be answerable using more than one area of specified content.
- Any content listed may appear in an examination paper as a MCQ (multiple-choice question) but only where also it is being assessed in another question style.
